

VETO IGNORED

Legislature Again Passed the Veterans' Bounty Bill

BOSTON, June 10.—Governor Bates' veto of the soldiers' bounty bill providing for $25 to each soldier and sailor of the Civil war who did not receive one was rejected by the house and senate last night amid scenes of excitement and enthusiasm probably never equaled on Beacon Hill.

The cheers which greeted the result were heard in the executive chamber, Governor Bates as to the veto in the senate, who made no comment until he heard the cheer that went up, echoes of which penetrated the doors of the executive chamber, and then remarked: "They must be cheering for the bounty bill."

The vote on the governor's veto of veterans' bounty bill was as follows:

IN THE HOUSE.
Against the Governor.....151
In favor of the Governor.....47

IN THE SENATE.
Against the Governor.....25
In favor of the Governor.....13

The scene in the house and senate after the bill had been passed over the veto were something unusual for the legislative halls. Cheers and shouts filled the air and republicans vied with democrats in the demonstration. The house disposed of the veto first, the vote against it being 151 to 47, and the champions of the governor stood no chance in the face of the tempest of the popular branch of the legislature.

Schofield, Hayes, Seiberlich, Brinkham and Drinkwater all made a plea for the soldier bounty, while Parker, Andrews and Harding defended the governor.

When the vote was announced, the house stood up as one man and cheered itself hoarse, Speaker Frothingham being unable to suppress the demonstration.

When the senate took up the matter at 7:30 p. m. the old chamber was crowded to suffocation and the galleries filled with people. Senators Bennett tried to prevent the tide against the governor, but was unable to do so, although he attempted to use the party whip to bring the republicans into line. Senators Bullock, Nye and Rogers made a reply to his efforts with the result that the vote was not sustained by a vote of 25 to 13.

SCHOFIELD'S FIERY SPEECH.
The speech which carried the house by storm was made by the author of the bill, Representative George A. Schofield, of Ipswich, a democrat who is serving his third term in the house from a republican district in Essex county.

Representative Schofield arose immediately after Clerk Kimball had completed the reading of the message and said in part:

"Mr. Speaker—I do not believe Governor Bates understands the bill and certainly he does not understand my motives and should not attribute false ones."

"It is not my purpose to criticize the governor, but he speaks of the alleged motive. There is one I did have aside from the general good such a bill will do for many a poor soldier in this state, and one was to secure the pen by which he might have signed the bill, but I would prefer now to have the pen with which he wrote the veto message, and I would have it framed and placed aside of the Hooker statue that people may see where the pen is mightier than the sword."

"The bill which his Excellency has seen fit to veto was for the purpose of paying a debt to those soldiers and sailors of the war of the Rebellion who were not paid when they were called to the defense of their country. State debts upon being paid by the national government $1,000,000 due from that war and why should not those who were entitled to a bounty and never received one be paid what is due them?"

"This bill passed this house, over 200 members being recorded in favor of it, while 30 men in the senate voted for it, and they ought to know what their constituents want much better than one man."

Had Governor Bates indicated he would not sign it, why did he not allow the bill to be recalled and have an amendment attached referring the matter to the voters of the state?

"I do not propose to ask any man to vote against his conscience, but is there one man here today who will change his vote of a month ago? Fortunately or otherwise I belong to the minority party in this house, but on this measure there is no party. We are all loyal sons of Massachusetts, but the republican party has always been the true friend of the soldier and I do not think the members of that organization will desert him on this occasion."

DEBATE ON THE VETO.

Representative Parker of Springfield spoke in defense of the veto and declared that the governor was actuated by his high principle in voting the bill back, which sent men to the front. He knew of no governor doing a more courageous act.

Representative Hayes of Lowell made an impassioned speech in behalf of the bill and was warmly applauded. He made a vigorous plea to the members to stand by the old soldier who had stood by the old Bay State in the day of need.

Representative Harding of Chatham, opposing the bill, claimed that it would lead to an attempt to equalize all bounties. Mr. Andrews of Holyoke also opposed the bill.

Mr. Davis of Salem, Mr. Seiberlich of Boston and Mr. Brinkham of Marlboro spoke against the veto, the latter pointing out that Governor Bates as a member of the house in 1895 voted to pass the veterans' bounty act over Governor Greenhalge's veto.

Representative Drinkwater of Hingham said: "Governor Bates is willing to pay a lobbyist named Cotton $100,000 for representing the state in congress and securing the war bounty, while any member of this house could have done, but he is not willing to pay merely twice that amount for the benefit of thousands of those who faced shot and shell for the sake of Massachusetts and the Union."

When came the vote which overruled the veto.

OVATION FOR SCHOFIELD.
Members of the house, when the decision of the senate on the bounty bill became known, caught Representative Schofield in the corridors, raised him to their shoulders, rushed him to the area in front of the speaker's desk, and enthusiastically cheered him, and demanded a speech.

Mr. Schofield responded to the members for their support in his own behalf and for the sake of the old soldier.

SENATE CHAMBER CROWDED.
When the bounty bill came up in the senate for consideration, the question being on passing it over the veto of the governor, 35 senators were in their chairs and the chamber was crowded with members of the house, who had fought for its passage, and speakers.

Senator Rogers of Berkshire-Hampshire was the first to speak in favor. Senator Osmond of Worcester thought the governor had suggested several good reasons why the bill should not pass.

Senators Melrose and Sullivan of Boston favored passing the bill over the veto, as did Senators Bullock of Bristol, McKelvey of Middlesex and Nye of the Cape and Maclennan of Berkshire. The governor's position was further favored by Senators Dennis of Norfolk and Dana of Middlesex. Then came the vote.

TO ST. LOUIS.
President Jones of the senate yesterday appointed Senators Melrose of Boston, McKelvey of Middlesex, and Dana of Middlesex to a committee to attend the Louisiana Purchase Exposition.

As a committee to attend the G. A. R. encampment in Boston he appointed Senators Appleton of Middlesex, Essex, Houghton of Middlesex, Brinkham of Norfolk, Maclennan of Berkshire and Faxon of Essex.

Speaker Frothingham announced the following committees: To represent the state at the St. Louis exposition, Newton of Everett, Vinson of Boston, Cole of Andover, Ayward of Cambridge and Seward of Waterville.

For the national G. A. R. encampment, Hayes of Lowell, Nowell of Reading, Goulding of Peabody, Staples of Framingham, Nason of Everett, Davis of Salem, Brinkham of Marlboro, Pierce of Worcester, Vinson of Boston, Childs of Great Barrington, Seiberlich of Boston, Mosely of Westfield, Drinkwater of Braintree, Warren of Newton and Freeman of Quincy.

CARDINAL SATOLLI.
WILL PRESENT CHALICE OF GOLD TO UNIVERSITY.

NEW YORK, June 10.—Cardinal Satolli arrived here yesterday from Genoa in the steamship Princess Irene, but he had weathered the rough reception it was proposed to give him down the bay. It was intended that a large party of priests and laymen should go down on the S. A. Gill and take him off at quarantine. The liner, however, shipped by in the fog of the early morning and was up to her deck in the broken before the steamboat got under way.

As the cardinal came down the gang-plank Archbishop Parley greeted him. They clasped hands and gave each other the goodnight in Latin. With the cardinal as traveling companion are two young ecclesiastics—Fr. Bruce Satolli, his cousin, and Fr. Giuseppe Marcelli, the cardinal's private secretary.

The cardinal brings as a gift from himself for the Catholic University a valuable gold chalice which his old pupils of the Urban college of the Propaganda in Rome gave him as a souvenir of his sacerdotal silver jubilee on July 1, 1887. This he now presents to the university as a token that his soul will toward the institution at the opening of which he was assisted in 1887 and of which he is now the official head as prefect of the congregation of studies.

Who asked for an opinion on the French situation, he shook his head and said solemnly: "God preserve France."

The cardinal will be received by President Roosevelt, probably next Wednesday.

The letter carriers will start on their annual vacation on July 1 as follows: July 1 to 15—Mellough, Martin, Macene, Land and Dedrick. July 16 to 31—Woods, Jacobs, Campos, Roane, Beckard, Doyle, Bartlett and Lane. Aug. 1 to 15—Ward, Bradley, Andrews, Sullivan, Brown, Whittemore, Ewing and Maguire. Aug. 16 to 31—Morrissey, Gray, Adams, Gadhols, Higgins, Bunfield, Davis and Stack. Sept. 1 to 15—Lebrun Taylor, Bulmer, Garlin, Egan and Mahoney. Sept. 16 to 31—Hickey, Waring, Harrington, Howe, Neagohar, Holden and Tunney. Vignati, Pettinelli, Carey and Joss will not take dates.

NEW SUNDAY LAW

Legislature Refuses to Adopt Bates' Views

BOSTON, June 10.—Both the house and senate yesterday refused to pass the Sunday law bill desired by Governor Bates, and the measure which finally passed is considered practically the same as the present law except that Sunday entertainments must be passed upon and licensed by the authorities of towns and cities.

It was openly charged after the bill passed that the new law was really far worse than the present one inasmuch as it opens the way to widespread "graft."

The house had a long and interesting discussion of the measure, Mr. Newton of Everett defending the governor's position in the matter, and he was assisted by Messrs. Lane and Taft.

The fight came on the amendment of Mr. Lowell of Newton, leaving the matter to the local authorities as to granting licenses.

Mr. Pierce read a portion of a letter from the Christian Endeavor Union, stating if something was not done the matter would be made an issue next fall. This Mr. Pierce characterized as a threat, "such as would be given by the sick on the Lord's day, and healed the sick on the Lord's day."

Mr. Pierce said he believed in the New England Sabbath, but maintained that under the bill any sort of entertainment could be given if a certain percentage was given to charity.

By a voting vote of 46 to 10 the Lowell amendment, requiring licenses by local authorities, was adopted. By request of Mr. Taft, a roll-call was ordered.

This resulted in a vote of 116 yeas to 30 nays, and the amendment was adopted.

The amended bill was then passed by a rising vote of 75 to 93.

The senate refused to concur with the house in the Lowell amendment. A committee of conference was asked for, in which request the house joined.

The conference committee promptly made a report which embodied the substance of a section provided in the house bill as to the licensing by city and town authorities. The bill as thus amended then passed by both house and senate.

The section agreed on by the conference committee is as follows:

Section 172.—The mayor and aldermen of a city or the selectmen of a town may, except as provided in Section 16 of Chapter 106, grant a license for theatrical exhibitions, public shows, public amusements and exhibitions of any description to which admission is obtained upon payment of money or upon the delivery of any valuable thing or by a ticket or voucher obtained for money or any valuable thing.

Such license and conditions they may revoke or suspend such license at their pleasure; but they shall not grant a license for any such theatrical exhibition, public show, public amusement or exhibition of any description whatever to be held upon the Sabbath day except for those named in Section 5 of Chapter 106, and no such exhibition, show or amusement, as mentioned in said section, except a concert of sacred music or a free open-air concert given by a city or town upon a common, public park, street or square, shall be given without such license.

The bill was afterwards signed by the governor.

THROW UP SPONGE

LAWRENCE POLICE OFFICERS WILL NOT FIGHT.

LAWRENCE, June 10.—"It is probable that no further action will be taken in the case of the 15 deposed policemen," said Colonel Sweeney to a reporter this morning.

Speculation has been ripe since the adverse decision was handed down by Judge Barker as to whether or not the case would be taken before the full bench, or suit entered and a verdict rendered, and this statement evidently sets all rumor at rest.

This is the last of the famous case. The first to be tried under the civil service preliminary term and subsequent re-appointment rule, and has set a precedent.
